

How often should I change or clean my filters?

Generally, disposable filters should be replaced every month that the system is running. Replacement filters should be the same kind and size as the original filter. If your filter is not disposable, follow the manufacturer's instructions for cleaning procedures.