

How do I find a dealer who will do a good job?

The same rules apply here as for any contractor. Ask people you know who have had an air conditioning system installed and if they would recommend that contractor. Check with the Better Business Bureau. Have the dealer come out and give you an estimate--see how they handle their customers. Ask for references--and then check them.